

TeachingBooks.net LLC
4510 Regent Street, 2nd Floor, Suite A
Madison, WI 53705

License Renewal Quote #2018-392

January 19, 2018

Fed Tax ID: 39-2014311

BILL TO
Yonkers Public Schools
Yonkers, NY

Attn: Gina Bell
Phone: 914-376-8181
Email: gbell@yonkerspublicschools.org

TOTAL: $1,230.00

District-wide subscription and training services

- 12-Month Database Access with Training/Professional Development.... $1,230.00
Access from July 1, 2018 through June 30, 2019

TeachingBooks.net subscription and training services provide:

- Unlimited access to TeachingBooks.net (campus and remote) provided for all teachers, librarians, staff members, families, and students.
- A minimum of two virtual trainings throughout the school year. You may request more virtual trainings at no additional cost.

Trainings are recommended for:

- Teachers (ELA and others)
- Librarians/Media Specialists
- Coaches and Instructional Specialists
- Curriculum and Literacy Administrators

FYI credit card transactions incur a 3% processing fee.

Payments via check or wire transfer incur no processing fee. Please pay $1,230.00

Quote valid through April 30, 2018

Thank you for considering your renewal of TeachingBooks. We greatly appreciate working with your district, and we are deeply committed to enriching reading connections throughout your educational community for maximum outreach at a modest cost.

(See reverse for Product Description and Scope of Services.)

Product Description and Scope of Services

TeachingBooks.net strives to equitably give all readers insights and opportunities that deepen their understanding and joy of the books they are reading. The focus of the service is supporting student achievement, fusing reading and technology, and offering meaningful professional development for the teaching of books.

TeachingBooks.net is an extensive database of literacy resources and tools that enrich K–12 reading and library instruction. Each resource, be it an original movie filmed in the author's home by TeachingBooks.net, or a video book trailer narrated by an actor or the author, or a series of novel units with discussion questions that require evidence to successfully answer, is included in the database to easily integrate a digital, informative component into existing literacy and library work.

Learning Objective

TeachingBooks.net delivers to your school community:

- Opportunities for every student to watch, hear and learn from an author
- Integration of authors' insights into the curriculum
- Connections for families to have meaningful conversations about books
- Resources that excite and inform all members of community about the books being read

Professional Development

Teachers receive many PD benefits from TeachingBooks.net, including:

- Instructional materials for the books they are teaching
- Tools to inform book selection
- Rubrics to consider qualitative measures of text complexity
- Software to draft personalized literacy implementation plans and much more

Please direct questions to:

Sandy Xiong, Accounts Support Administrator

Phone: (800) 596-0710

Fax: (608) 327-8010

Email: sandy@TeachingBooks.net
