Project Description:

Talk to Write: The Path from Discussion to Writing Part 2

Peer to peer discussion creates space for students to think through their ideas, formulate their beliefs, and test out different methods of expressing their point of view. These are the same cognitive tasks that students need to do while they're writing. We propose a half day workshop in which teachers will experience the benefits of using discussion strategies as a precursor to writing and design a plan to implement the strategies in their own classes.

Goals: The CPET Coach(es) will ...

1. Design and facilitate 3 half day workshop per grade band (K-2, 3-4, 5-6, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12) with a focus on how discussion sets the stage for writing.
2. Design and facilitate a 3 half day workshop with Yonkers Literacy Coaches to preview the strategies, explore what other strategies or protocols are suitable for these goals, and to develop a support plan for each of their schools to implement this work in the classroom.
3. Collaborate with Yonkers Central to collaborate on PD goals, activities, and debrief workshop experiences.

Total # of Days: 16

Anticipated Start: January 2018
